Established in 1976 at the University of Maryland and now part of the School of Public Affairs, the Institute for Philosophy and Public Policy was founded to conduct research into the conceptual and normative questions underlying public policy formulation. This research is conducted cooperatively by philosophers, policymakers and analysts, and other experts from within and without the government.

All material copyright ©1991 by the Institute for Philosophy and Public Policy, unless otherwise acknowledged. For permission to reprint articles appearing in this publication, please contact the Institute. Partial funding for this issue was made possible by the Maryland Humanities Council, Inc., through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Institute for Philosophy and Public Policy
University of Maryland
College Park, Maryland 20742

Address correction requested.